NEWS

Dance Ireland is the trading name of the Association of Professional Dancers in Ireland Ltd. Established in 1989, Dance Ireland is a membership-led organisation, operating on an all-Ireland basis, dedicated to the promotion of professional dance practice in Ireland. Incorporated in 1992 as a not-for-profit company with limited guarantee, the organisation has evolved into a national, umbrella resource whose core aims are the promotion of dance as a vibrant art form, the provision of support and practical resources for professional dance artists through our training and development programmes and advocacy on dance and choreography issues.

Dance Ireland manages DanceHouse, a purpose-built, state-of-the-art dance rehearsal venue, located in the heart of Dublin's north-east inner city. DanceHouse is at the heart of Dance Ireland activities, as well as being a home for professional dance artists and the wider dance community. Studios are available for hire. In addition to hosting our artistic programme of professional training and development, performances, exhibitions, special events and a fully equipped artists' resource room, DanceHouse offers a range of evening classes to cater to the interests and needs of the general public.

INTRODUCTION

Welcome to our new year January issue of Dance Ireland News which contains a range of news from our members throughout the country, including performances and tours from CoisCéim, Dylan Quinn Dance Theatre, Fidget Feet, Irish Modern Dance Theatre, Legitimate Bodies and Rex Levitates. In addition we carry reviews and advance notices from Echo Echo, Junk Ensemble and Fearghus O'Conchuir, among others.

For Dance Ireland we embrace the year head-on and despite an uncertain financial climate, confidently propose particular priorities, introduce some new initiatives and some streamlining of our programme.

Specifically, we look forward to welcoming you all to professional morning classes, which recommence from Monday 10 January with Elena Giannotti in DanceHouse (the first of many artists we will have in residence during the year). Morning class is the backbone of our professional training programme and with the price remaining at €7 (members) and €10 (non-members) per class – it is fantastic value and even more economical when you purchase a class card.

With the emphasis on maintaining training and development opportunities, we provide an array of supports for dance artists at various stages in their career. Please see our enclosed Heads Up 2011 insert for further details, including a return visit from Andrew Harwood in February. As ever, we encourage you all to remember to check out danceireland.ie for all the latest news. With over 66,000 hits (from January to November in 2010), it is obviously of value to some of you.

In planning our programme, we take a 'breadth and balance' approach and argue the importance of consolidating what we have achieved to date. At all times we remain flexible and responsive to the needs of dancers, choreographers and companies. However this does mean we do have to make difficult decisions for the greater good of the organisation and prioritise our diminishing resources.

For example, we are not able to continue to support regional activity in 2011. Over the coming months we aim to review this strand of activity in partnership with our colleagues in Belfast, Cork, Galway, Tralee and Wexford and explore alternative ways of working together. As part of this process we aim to convene a meeting in partnership with the Arts Council to review the impact of the pilot phase of the Council's Dance Artist Residency Scheme. In the meantime, we sincerely thank you for your partnership to date and your understanding.

More positively, we have developed an inclusive Dance Ireland Residency programme which is open to all Dance Ireland members from throughout the island, regardless of funding. Dance Ireland Residency is our commitment to providing dance artists with their primary need - studio space. In the current climate Dance Ireland Residency will become a key means of ensuring new dance work is made.

In another development, we aim to focus on presentation opportunities in DanceHouse and in partnership nationally and internationally. Building on all our previous work, from 2011 onwards, DanceHouse will be the place where more and more dance work is presented. New Movements is your chance to see new and fresh work direct from the studio. Elena Giannotti kick starts the year with our first New Movements showing on Friday 14 January at 5pm, followed by choreographer Alexandra Waierstall/Noema Dance Works with an open studio presentation on Friday 21 January at 5pm.

In a further development Dance Talks returns on Thursday 27 January with a unique opportunity to hear CoisCéim's Executive Director Jenny Traynor in conversation with marketing and PR guru Annette Nugent discussing marketing dance. A very timely topic...

MODUL-DANCE – RESIDENCY & TEACHING

Alexandra Waierstall/Noema Dance Works (GR/D)

Professional Morning Class with company member Evangelia Randou

17 - 21 January

10 - 11.30am

Fee: €7 members / €10 non-members

Class card available

Our first international Modul-dance artist is Düsseldorf based Greek choreographer and dancer Alexandra Waierstall, supported by DDRC Athens. During a one-week residency in DanceHouse, Alexandra and company will start researching material for a new work, provisionally entitled Mapping the wind. This work follows on her research on the constitution, representation and perception of borders:

We will base our research on viewing wind maps depicting air masses and their movement across borders, trespassing in this way static notions of boundaries. This reflects a trans-cultural process beyond territorial constraints. As a counterpart to these observations, we shall review the function of longitude and latitude as a series of imaginary lines, which both encompass and dissect the globe – mental structures that can't be physically experienced but give us the sense of a temporal and spatial orientation. These elements will function as tools and systems to structure the process allowing at the same time revelations and narratives to unfold.

Alexandra will work with artistic collaborators Evangelia Randou, Jonathan Pranas, visual artist Marianna Christofides and photographer Alexandros Niagos. As part of her research time in DanceHouse, Alexandra wishes to invite some Irish dance artists – attending morning class with company member Evangelia Randou - to take part in the afternoon research sessions with the company. The residency will conclude with an open studio presentation on Friday 21 January at 5pm, under the umbrella of New Movements.

Alexandra Waierstall received a Master degree in Choreography from Dance Unlimited Arnhem (Netherlands) in 2006. Her choreographic work focuses on revealing fragments of ourselves and our environment, looking at issues of identity, geographical and intimate borders, retaining in her pieces again and again the fragile moment in a fleeting world. She is the co founder of the interactive arts festival No Body in Nicosia. She was nominated in Ballettanz Yearbook 2007 as 'one of the carriers of hope that also in the future will move dance'. Through her company Noema Dance Works, she has presented work in theatres and festivals such as the Tanzhaus NRW Dusseldorf, Southbank Centre London, Kampnagel Hamburg, Aerowaves London, Tanec Prague, Kalamata Dance Festival, Crossing Festival Beijing, among others. Noema Dance Works has been co-produced by the Tanzhaus NRW since 2007.

MULTI-DISCIPLINARY EXCHANGE

Andrew Harwood & Paula Zacharias

Depth of Field - the selective eye to compose in movement

14 - 18 February

10am - 3pm

This workshop-project is oriented towards experienced dancers, performers and creators and is designed to stimulate the imagination, cultivate a strong creative eye and extend that experience into other fields of perception thus developing a fuller dancing body and a deeper performance sensibility. Please note, due to the unique focus of the workshop, participants must commit for the entire week.

How can we be moved and connected to the possibilities we have as human beings in relation with our senses and the ways we make decisions through them? Bringing attention to this decision-making process gives us ways of composing in various environments and provides us with the tools to observe our strategies for surviving within them. As an organism of receptivity and perception, we can make our own language and reinvent it. We will bring attention to what we see and choose what to include in our field of vision, as we frame, edit and design the space that we move in and through. Connecting our imagination with our senses, this media can be a real way to go deeper into composing and editing in real-time and reveal the dancing visual artist that we all have inside. The movement expressions of solo, contact and ensemble improvisation in combination with various technical supports such as live and recorded video, photography, amplified or natural sound and music will be used as sources of inspiration to awaken the mind and the body. This approach is not merely a reflection of the present times that involves so much of the visual media but mostly used as a means to arouse your view, your perception and your imagination.

Andrew Harwood and Paula Zacharias have been touring together over the past 2 years and have taught and performed in Mexico, Argentina, Brazil, Uruguay, Canada, the USA, Australia, Russia, and six different countries in Europe.

Andrew Harwood is an international teacher, performer and creator in the field of instantaneous choreography and contact improvisation since 1975. He is the artistic director of AH HA Productions, a project oriented company based in Montreal, which is dedicated to the research, creation, education and production of improvisational dance as a performing art. Andrew studied, taught and performed with Steve Paxton, Nancy Stark Smith and Nita Little, the founding members of Contact Improvisation. His background also includes athletics, gymnastics, yoga, contemporary dance, release technique, Alexander technique, compositional improvisation, and Aikido. His work has been presented in numerous international festivals since 1980. Andrew danced for the companies of Marie Chouinard, Jean-Pierre Perreault and Jo Lechay and has collaborated in performance with Chris Aiken, Peter Bingham, Kirstie Simson, Ray Chung, Marc Boivin, Lin Snelling, Benoît Lachambre and Lisa Nelson, among others. He is the recipient of the Canada Council's Jacqueline-Lemieux award for the year 2000; www.diagramme.org/ahha

Paula Zacharias' work embraces her keen interest for the visual disciplines of photography and videography and her passion for improvisational dance. Her career began in her native Argentina as an assistant producer for television and commercials. In 2000 she started her own video editing and production company Nagualfilms, in Mexico, now headquartered in Buenos Aires, where Paula splits her time between documenting, producing, film editing and shooting stock images which are carried by Getty Images, Corbis and BLEND. Paula is also a dancer and performer of Butoh and contact improvisation since 1987. She also studied contemporary dance, release technique and Iyengar Yoga for many years. Her first approach to contact improvisation was with Alma Falkenberg, which was then further developed with Andrea Fernandez, with whom she keeps exploring and investigating the form with a stable research and performance group in Buenos Aires. She also developed her knowledge in improvisation with teachers like Steve Paxton, Nancy Stark Smith, Nina Martin, Lisa Nelson, Andrew Harwood, Martin Keough and Susan Shell among others. In Butoh her main influence is Rhea Volij, which was deepened during intensive workshops with Tadashi Endo, Minako Seki, Akira Kasai and Diego Piñon. She is part of a Butoh performance group directed by Rhea Volij since 2005. Her recent work is based on Contact Improvisation and Compositional Improvisation (based in part on Lisa Nelson's Tuning Scores) and on her own research through her other main career as a visual artist; www.paulazacharias.com

DANCE IRELAND RESIDENCY

OPEN CALL

Deadline: 14 January

Dance Ireland invites expressions of interest for a Dance Ireland Residency. Available from February 2011 onwards, a Dance Ireland Residency will provide studio time to artists for R&D, rehearsal/creation or the development of other dance projects.

In any one year, we support over 40 artists/projects with studio space in a responsive but ad hoc manner. To date this has included bursaries, studio residencies, teaching deals and partnerships, ranging from a day to a number of weeks. This does not include all those funded artists/companies we offer 'subsidised/reduced' rates at DanceHouse. In order to continue to strategically support choreographic development, we are subsuming all the above supports under the umbrella of Dance Ireland Residency.

In the current climate Dance Ireland Residency will become a key means of ensuring new dance work is made and dance artists have a chance of maintaining a studio practice.

All DI professional members: individuals, companies, collectives and/or ad hoc ensembles are eligible to apply. There will be two closing dates for residencies in 2011; the first is the 14

January and the second will be advertised in mid 2011; thereafter Dance Ireland Residency will be available on a rolling basis.

As ever we remain sensitive to the needs of artists and aim to encourage all DI members to avail of a Dance Ireland Residency. At a time of diminishing resources, this is a proactive means of facilitating dance makers:

- For those with funding/other supports we will partner you in order to maximise your resource by offering some week(s) free. This can also be used as leverage to enhance and further resource your project;
- Many regionally based artists/companies would like the opportunity to be in residence in DanceHouse. A Dance Ireland Residency creates an opportunity for these artists/companies to share their work and process with the wider dance community;
- For independent/non-funded artists, we aim to additionally support with a small fund (subject to availability) or supplement the Dance Ireland Residency in some other way.

The length of the residency will be dictated by need. In order to accommodate as many proposals as realistically possible, studio space will be capped to a max of 4 weeks. However, in exceptional cases and if resources allow, we may be in a position to extend. In return, Dance Ireland Residency artists agree to contribute to our professional training programme, show work, and/or participate in Dance Talks. The type of engagement will be agreed between Dance Ireland and the artist(s).

All those interested in applying to the first round should contact Elisabetta Bisaro at elisabetta.bisaro@danceireland.ie, by submitting a short written project proposal and outline of preferred dates. Deadline for submission of interest is Friday 14 January. To better understand how Dance Ireland can support you, we will meet with each artist before any final offer is made. These sessions will take place during the last two weeks in January.

David Bolger's 77 year old mother Madge rose to this challenge during Dublin Dance Festival 2010 when Swimming with my Mother was performed as a work-in-progress. David and Madge returned to the studio in November to complete this intimate duet embodying their relationship and mutual love for swimming and dancing.

Swimming with my Mother is a beautiful, heartfelt and unsentimental journey into the dancing and swimming lives of two extraordinary people. In this light and humane dance work you could almost smell the sea and

DUBLIN DANCE FESTIVAL

Grand Canal Theatre

26 May @ 8pm

Tickets: €15 - €40

www.dublindancefestival.ie

Dublin Dance Festival (DDF) is delighted to announce its first engagement at Grand Canal Theatre, Dublin, as part of DDF 2011. The Irish premiere of Songs of the Wanderers, the signature work of multi-award winning choreographer Lin Hwai-min, Director of Cloud Gate Dance Theatre of Taiwan, will take place on Thursday May 26, 2011. This visually sensational production has enthralled audiences worldwide and will be a spectacular Festival highlight!

With dancers trained in chi kung, meditation, internal martial arts, modern dance, ballet and calligraphy, this work was inspired by Lin Hwai-min's visit to Bodhgaya, where Buddha attained his enlightenment. As the curtain opens, a stream of rice drizzles onto the head of an Asian monk, who remains motionless in meditation throughout the work. Tonnes of golden grains ricochet and rain down to form an ever-changing landscape for some 20 extraordinary Cloud Gate dancers, who perform to a score of soulful Georgian folk songs recorded by the Rustavi Choir. Since its premiere in 1994, Songs of the Wanderers has moved tens of thousands of audience in New York, Paris, Berlin, London, Athens, Rome, Copenhagen, Melbourne, São Paulo, and Moscow to rave reviews from leading critics.

Tickets for Songs of the Wanderers, priced from €15 – €40, are already on sale on www.dublindancefestival.ie and from Grand Canal Theatre on www.grandcanaltheatre.ie, and via Ticketmaster outlets nationwide. Book today to ensure you get the best seats for this awe-inspiring performance.

The Festival will announce the full 2011 programme, which features a focus on works from Asia and the Asian diaspora, alongside works from Ireland, North America, Europe and elsewhere, on 01 March.

EXPANDANCE

2010 – A Review

expandance had a full and exciting year in 2010 and are looking forward to 2011. Last year they performed a total of five new works in two countries, launched two new studios (Dublin and Wicklow, supporting their continued Skype rehearsals with New York) and even found time to have a baby (nice work Laurie). They also brought three works made in the U.S. home to Ireland. Rachel's Tributaries was presented as part of Illuminating Artists New Works festival at TADA! Theatre, NYC and 3 months later they brought the work home, performing it at Some expandance evening... in Dance Theatre of Ireland (DTI). Christina's Chi'il Bel Sogno was also shown at DTI along with Making Change, now developed into a trio. Alicia and Laurie's little Time / little Space was performed at the Riverbank Arts Centre, Kildare, and at Block T in Dublin. Rachel's Rock Om, with five new dancers, was shown at Webster Hall, NYC as part of their Quarterly Arts Soiree. And Alicia performed her solo 12 Steps at The George Bernard Shaw Theatre in Carlow. It was a busy year of teaching too, with workshops for adults in New York, teenagers at Shawbrook and Riverbank Arts Centre, and Over 60s at The George Bernard Shaw Theatre. New classes for adults start up soon in Kildare and Carlow, and in New York, expandance are busy moving ahead with Rock Om.

expandance would like to thank everyone who supported them in 2010; they look forward to connecting with more of you in 2011.

FEARGHUS Ó CONCHÚIR

www.fearghus.net

Last year concluded with new beginnings: I started a new solo thanks to a Blank Canvas residency at the Firkin Crane and an Arts Council Dance Bursary. The solo is for the delightfully talented Matthew Morris and is a site-specific piece for the stage. I'll be looking this year for opportunities to bring that research to production and a wider audience.

I also began work on new work in England. The film installation Tattered Outlaws of History will be exhibited at the Jaywick Martello Tower in Essex, and my collaborator, Dan Dubowitz, and I will continue making new work on the Martello Towers of England's East Coast to add to the installation.

At the end of January, I start research on Tabernacle, a new quintet with music by Iarla Ó Lionáird, featuring Mikel Aristegui, Elena Giannotti, Stéphane Hisler, Bernadette Iglich and Matthew Morris. The work will premiere in May. With the support of Modul-dance, of which Dance Ireland is a partner, I'll be starting the research at Arts Station in Poznan, Poland at the end of January. Tabernacle will explore faith and the making of the Irish body, an enquiry I started with my Dance on the Box commission, Mo Mhór Choir Féin.

Mo Mhór Choir Féin has been selected to compete in the VideoDanza, Barcelona International Prize this month. It will be shown at the IDN – Image, Dance and New Media festival, from 13 to 16 of January at the Mercat de les Flors and Institut del Teatre, Barcelona.

Hanging In There by Nick Bryson & Damian Punch

Fallout by Dylan Quinn

Dundee Repertory Theatre

Nick Bryson and Damian Punch are delighted to be taking part in an evening of political posturing and dissident dance from Ireland in January at Dundee Rep Theatre. The evening is supported by Scottish Dance Theatre, Culture Ireland and presented by Richard Wakely.

In Hanging in There two politicians challenge themselves physically and verbally to meet the contortions of a gleaming new devolved government, the NI Assembly. Hanging in There is an internationally acclaimed work portraying the inner-workings and self-delusion needed to prolong a negotiation process between two equally legitimate political bodies.

Dylan Quinn Dance Theatre's Fallout is a critically acclaimed solo exploring the increasing levels of violence in our society, as described by a slightly manic sports commentator. Using theatre, dance and video, this immensely engaging work draws us into a dark and disturbing world where acts of violence appear as forms of entertainment... until reality bites.
