NEWS

Dance Ireland is the trading name of the Association of Professional Dancers in Ireland Ltd. Established in 1989, Dance Ireland is a membership-led organisation, operating on an all-Ireland basis, dedicated to the promotion of professional dance practice in Ireland. Incorporated in 1992 as a not-for-profit company with limited guarantee, the organisation has evolved into a national, umbrella resource whose core aims are the promotion of dance as a vibrant art form, the provision of support and practical resources for professional dance artists through our training and development programmes and advocacy on dance and choreography issues.

Dance Ireland manages DanceHouse, a purpose-built, state-of-the-art dance rehearsal venue, located in the heart of Dublin's north-east inner city. DanceHouse is at the heart of Dance Ireland activities, as well as being a home for professional dance artists and the wider dance community. Studios are available for hire. In addition to hosting our artistic programme of professional training and development, performances, exhibitions, special events and a fully equipped artists' resource room, DanceHouse offers a range of evening classes to cater to the interests and needs of the general public.

INTRODUCTION

The cycle begins afresh; welcome to the September issue of Dance Ireland News. Our cover highlights the range and diversity of our members' work showcased this month as part of the Absolut Fringe. We wish all you all well; Dance Ireland is delighted to note the number we have been able to support in some way or other on their journey to the Fringe. There are too many highlights to single out here; so best just check out the website and make your bookings: www.fringefest.com or call 1850 374643.

We trust you all had a rejuvenating summer, and are ready for not only a month of performances, classes, workshops and events throughout the country but a time for action: Friday 17 September is National Day of Action. Amidst a nationwide media campaign, co-ordinated by the National Campaign for the Arts (www.ncfa.ie); arts workers will be discussing with their local representatives the fundamental importance of the arts to Ireland's economic recovery. You can get involved by joining the arts workers group where you are registered to vote and by taking part in the meetings and events on the day.

To mark this special day, Dance Ireland is in the process of organising a dance flash mob involving as many members of our community and their friends as possible. We aim to make a spectacle of ourselves and capture a good photograph at 1pm on Friday 17 September in a city-centre location. Everybody is welcome to come and join us! Our rallying call for this unique photo opportunity is: one group, one dance, one chance...to make ourselves, our concerns and our profession visible. You can follow developments on Facebook, Twitter and our website.

Last month we unveiled our autumn teaching schedule which commenced with a week of ballet taught by Joanna Banks, followed by a week of contemporary with former Trisha Brown dancer Abigail Yager. These two fine teachers herald what promises to be a challenging and engaging series of professional training over the next 17 weeks. As if daytime activity is not enough, in response to members' requests we have initiated a pilot Monday evening Dance Lab commencing 13 September. Also this month we host a DANCE TALKS focusing on integrated dance practice between Cathy O'Kennedy and Tara Brandel/Crói Glan Integrated Dance Company on 23 September.

It is with great pleasure that we announce the return of Elisabetta Bisaro to the Dance Ireland team. Elisabetta assumes the post of Programme Manager, with responsibility for the creative professional programme. After a year away from us working on a number of international projects; Elisabetta returns with plenty of new ideas and can be contacted by email: elisabetta.bisaro@danceireland.ie or telephone: 01 855 8800.

The Arts are a necessity. Not a luxury. The Arts are an asset. Not an overhead.

6-8pm
DanceHouse
infodanceresearch@gmail.com

This group invites everybody interested in exchange about theoretical, practice-based and practice-led research in dance and performance. One initial aim is to provide the space to reflect ideas, and to engage with the ideas of a wider community. Texts will be provided to the group to stimulate the discussions. New members are always welcome. Join us, and enrich and reflect your movement practice through communication with your peers and stay up to date with current concerns in dance and performance research.

DANCE LAB

Mondays @ DanceHouse
13, 20, 27 September, 4 October
7.30pm - 9.30pm
Fee: €5 DI members/€10 non-members

Dance Lab is a new weekly practice session for people interested in participating in an investigation of the ideas, theory, concepts and mechanics of contemporary dance practice and performance. Each session will run for two hours, facilitated by a dance artist who will experiment with a particular facet of their practice in a group context. Participants are invited to attend the session with an open body/mind, and in the process become willing 'lab rats' for the facilitator's ideas.

13 September: Cindy Cummings, will facilitate a session experimenting with the images generated by 4 dimensional, instant compositions within group structures. She is interested in using the perception of time as an active element in an improvisational context.

20 September: Fergus Byrne, will lead a session looking at commentary on the body and the words which describe our actions and how we learn by aligning words with actions thereby identifying them. We will be considering movements without description and then looking for description through associative thought, stimulation of memory and personalized gestures.

27 September: Aoife Courtney, will be exploring influence in performance. She will be asking people to watch and perform, swapping roles and giving feedback on their experience as watcher and performer. Specific influences she will be looking at are: music, an audience and solo versus group performance. A willingness to take direction and give feedback is asked of people attending this lab.

4 October: Julie Lockett, will investigate the mechanics and possibilities for the construction of a quartet. She will teach two short extracts from two partnering duets from 'Landscape, Study II' and then experiment with her material.

INTERNATIONAL EXCHANGE PROGRAMME

Michelle Boulé - Movement Research New York Morning Class

13 - 24 September

Price: €7 members/€10 non-members (class card available)

Michelle Boulé is a dance artist, teacher, and BodyTalk Practitioner living in New York. She has been involved in the creation of 8 pieces with Miguel Gutierrez and the Powerful People over the last 10 years. She has also danced with Deborah Hay (William Forsythe commission If I Sing To You), John Jasperse, Donna Uchizono, Liz Santoro, Neal Beasley, Christine Elmo, Beth Gill, Judith Sanchez-Ruiz, Doug Varone (Metropolitan Opera Ballet), and Gabriel Masson. Her own choreography has been presented at the Krannert Center Illinois, University of Utah, P.S. 122, Danspace Project, Judson Church, and the Center for Performance Research NYC. In New York, she teaches regularly at Movement Research, where she is a member of the teaching faculty and the Artists Advisory Council, and has also taught at the Trisha Brown Studio, American Dance Festival NY Intensive, 92nd Street Y, and Dance New Amsterdam. Her interests in performance, teaching, and bodywork are inspired by the continuous enjoyment she finds in exploring the beautiful constructions and incredible potentials of the body.

If I Sing to You

I am really excited about connecting to another geographic community of artists and dancers. I would like to further develop some of my recent ideas about teaching...the immediate access to the fullness of our physicality, taking the body to its highest physical intelligence, letting the limitations of the mind step out of the way. I am excited to have the rehearsal time to work on material for a performance that I am doing in October in New York and also to continue playing with the information that comes up in class.

Michelle invites you to come to class with the belief that your body has all it needs and that within the collective of the room, we expand our resources even further. She will use guided improvisations, which honour each individual's unique pathways for engaging and understanding. She will also work with simple exercises and imagery, utilising specific ideas about anatomy and kinesiological function. The relationship to our physical, energetic, mental, and emotional bodies will be a resource map for growth and information, helping us access states where physically efficient, creative engagement is the default choice. Class will end with an application of these ideas to choreographed phrase work. Michelle is influenced by her studies of the Alexander Technique, Body-Mind Centering, Fitzmaurice Voicework, Franklin Method, Yuen Method and BodyTalk. Dancers are encouraged to commit to the two weeks.

MULTI-DISCIPLINARY EXCHANGE: CHOREO-PHOTO-GRAPHY

David Bergé

22 - 24 September

Time: 1 - 6pm

DI Members: €30 / non-members: €50

The final in our series of Multi-Disciplinary Exchanges focuses on the body and photography.

...the dancers perspective in the larger choreographic picture through photography...

What do you see when you look at a dance? What do dancers see when they look at an image? This workshop is a journey in photography for contemporary dancers and choreographers that will focus on their ability to articulate perception: how the naked eye frames, selects, and understands information from the visual field.

The workshop will mix dialogue and photographic action/activity. Participants will look at photographs and discuss them. We will also engage in concrete spatial exercises using cameras to develop approaches to choreographic organisation. By exploring the laws of composition that photography deals with, dancers will not only gain a sense of organisation of the two-dimensional image frame, but also of three-dimensional space.

While photos will be produced, the process of getting there will be more important than the photos as objects. No photographic experience, nor equipment necessary. This workshop is only open to professional dancers and choreographers.

David Bergé is a photographer active in the field of contemporary dance and performance. Among others, he has collaborated artistically with choreographers Trajal Harrell, DD Dorvillier, Marc Vanrunxt and Kajsa Sandström. He has developed a practice for dance documentation through photographing rehearsal processes, workshops and community events, rather than performances and shows. For further information on David's work, visit www.papa-razzi.be.

DANCE TALKS: INTEGRATED DANCE

23 September
DanceHouse @ 6pm
Admission Free
Booking: 01 855 8800
www.danceireland.ie

A public talk with Cathy O'Kennedy, in conversation with Tara Brandel and members of Croí Glan Integrated Dance Company. This public conversation focuses on the world of integrated dance. All are welcome to join us for DANCE TALKS.

Croí Glan Integrated Dance Company is a professional contemporary dance company based in Cork, which performs work that includes both disabled and non-disabled dancers. Croí Glan highlights the cutting edge artistic value of creating performance with diverse bodies by producing high calibre work which tours nationally and internationally. Croí Glan also provides an educational programme that offers integrated dance to people with and without disabilities, through introductory workshops; ongoing classes; and vocational training in integrated dance.

Cathy O' Kennedy is a pioneering Irish dance artist whose work explores issues of relevance to people's lives. She has developed a distinctive dance language and discourse around her commitment to bringing the art of dance and the 'normal' into close association with one another. Cathy is currently researching a PhD, with the SMARTlab Digital Media Institute, at UEL London.

The Spinner

21 (Preview) - 24 September @ 1pm

DanceHouse

www.fringefest.com

Earlier this year Aoife McAtamney was busy in DanceHouse creating The Spinner, an energetic, imaginative dance piece for three women. Aoife received a 09/10 Choreographic Bursary from Dance Ireland which aided the development of her movement ideas for this particular work. The Spinner draws inspiration from the Moirae, the three Greek figures of destiny also called The Three Fates - Clotho, Lachesis, and Atropos. These Gods work together to spin, measure and cut the thread of life.

This is Aoife's first collaboration with musician Tom Lane. With live music from the viola, this piece will transport you to a community of deities where dance becomes the means to construct human fate. The Spinner features Aoife with dancers Emma Martin and Anna Kaszuba. An intimate performance, it reminds us we are all connected through the common thread of life.

CoisCéim Broadreach is a dance awareness programme which underpins the work of CoisCéim Dance Theatre and draws on the company's reputation of creating distinctive, enjoyable and challenging contemporary dance theatre. Broadreach offers a range of dance initiatives which reflect and promote these themes.

Creative Steps Young People's Dance Theatre, part of CoisCéim Broadreach, will hold an informal workshop audition for 2010/11 on Sunday 26 September at CoisCéim studio. Open to individuals aged 15 to 25, Creative Steps members collaborate with choreographers and other artists to create and perform striking and original choreographies for stage and film. Applicants should have experience in dance or physical theatre and be open to exploring new ideas and taking risks. A passion for working creatively in dance theatre is essential.

Other Broadreach initiatives include weekly dance classes for adults and people aged 50+. A new 8-week term of contemporary dance, ballet and jazz classes at CoisCéim Studio will start on 07 September and classes for people aged 50+ at St Teresa's Church on Clarendon Street will resume on 08 September.

A dark tale of small-town solidarity. Majority rules and a close-knit community turns on one of its own. This is Listowel Syndrome – in a small town you can't afford to make enemies and actions do have consequences. Reflecting on a recent case that saw a large number of people express their solidarity for a convicted man through a wordless gesture, it brings to mind a Faustian pact. Told through dance, text, song and live music, this is a fable told for any town at any time. Listowel Syndrome was supported by the Dance Ireland Summer Residency programme.

Hang On – can you? Do you feel you are constantly running on empty? Do you feel that no matter how much you do, that life may always remain relentless? Should we fight this pulse of time or just – Hang On? Performed by two outstanding dancers, this powerful show takes place on the ground and in the air. Staged to original live music and video art, it is highly physical, often raw, sometimes sensual and always real.

Fidget Feet are doing what they do best, fusing gravity-defying aerial circus skills with dance. Hang On will be performed as part of a double bill with Maurice Joseph Kelliher's Paradise Dance Hall. Hang On was commissioned by Westmeath County Council and Backstage Theatre supported by Shawbrook, Dance Ireland and premiered at Longford Dance Festival April 2010.

Also this month, with the support of Backstage Theatre and Culture Ireland, Fidget Feet will be performing Hang On at FIRA T'arrega Festival in Spain on 11 and 12 September. This is then followed by an outdoor beach performance and aerial crane act on 23 September at Clifden Arts Week and 25 September with LUXE and the local community.

New Term for South Tipperary Dance Residency

South Tipperary Dance Residency will commence a new term in September, thanks to the renewed support of South Tipperary County Council and Tipperary Excel Centre. Many thanks to all who gave us support through this year of intense work of transmission and creation – July saw the production residency and the première of our last piece MSY2[me seeing you too] in Clonmel Junction Festival

This new term maintains the double orientation – fundamental to our eyes – towards community based dance practice on one side, and the development and facilitation of professional dance in Tipperary on the other side.

Dance in the community will include workshops in schools, workshops with general public, creation of a dance group, performances in the Excel, and more to be announced soon. On the professional side, Iseli-Chiodi Dance Company has chosen some mentors to feed their work, and is already putting thoughts and ideas into a future piece.

Starting the residency with the company this year, Argentinean choreographer Mariana Bellotto from Buenos Aires, who will transmit the solo Argentinita to Jazmin Chiodi. Jazmin will perform Argentinita in October in two big events in Germany: Düsseldorf's Tanzmesse, and Frankfurt's huge international book fair – the Buchmesse. The company are very happy to receive Mariana and her work and will also work several days with Mariana as mentor.

A Study in Absence/A Study in Presence

21 - 24 September @ 3.30pm

DanceHouse

www.fringefest.com

A Study in Absence/A Study in Presence is a highly original contemporary dance work that questions its own accessibility to the audience as it takes place. Two unique performers, Nick Bryson and Eimhin Shortt take a refreshing look at our perception of dance and juggling. With unquenchable determination to compare the corresponding appeals of each artform, they give a check-up to a patient in need of assessment, a last-ditch treatment and psychological counselling. Along the way there are some rather surprising exhibitions of skill and lyrical beauty. From a young company described by The Irish Times as simple, clever and hilarious, this new performance is a highly original contemporary dance work that questions its own accessibility to the audience as it takes place. The work will form part of a work in progress double bill with Croí Glan.

Booking: The MAC on 028 90235053

DanceLab 2010 continues with Chisato Ohno leading a GAGA intensive. GAGA is the movement method of choreographer Ohad Naharin (Batsheva Dance Company). It is an evolving language of movement research designed to access an ever-expanding range of physicality through the imagery of sensation. GAGA takes an instinctive approach towards movement, emphasizing quality and texture. Over the past fifteen years, Chisato Ohno has danced with Netherlands Dans Theater 2 where she performed works by Jiri Kylian, Hans van Manen, Johan Inger and many others. She worked with Batsheva Dance Company and Saburo Teshigawara Karas Company and also teaches in Tel Aviv and at The Place, London.

The Christian Dance Fellowship of Ireland is an interdenominational fellowship providing support and networking for Christians throughout Ireland, north and south, who are involved in dance and movement. The Emmaus Centre is just north of the town of Swords, close to the M50 and M1 Motorways, near to the airport and 5 minutes' walk from the bus stop. Enjoy good food and a fantastic weekend. Dancers and non-dancers of all ages and abilities are welcome. Under 18s must be accompanied by a responsible adult.

The teachers at this conference are professional dancers/choreographers Christine and Sodapop Jeanville from France. Christine has a background in ballet and contemporary dance. She worked at the Opera House of Hanover, Germany and now works freelance with her husband Sodapop. Sodapop is known to be one of the first pioneers in the hip-hop world in France and Europe. Together they celebrate their Christian faith with a unique blend of dance genres.

MAURICE JOSEPH KELLIHER

Paradise Dance Hall

17 - 19 September @ 6pm

Project Arts Centre

www.fringefest.com

It ends with a mysterious bruise, a long-distance dance, and a swallow tattoo to guide you. It starts with the people you haunt, and the traces of those who left without explanation. It's a live performance, with under-the-counter true stories. It's a blind date, with music to fill those awkward silences. It's dance for people who don't like dance. It's a guilty pleasure. It will not be sentimental, but it might be beautiful. It could get a bit x-rated. There may even be a slow-set. But whatever happens, you will not go home alone.

Paradise Dance Hall will be performed as part of a double bill with Fidget Feet Aerial Dance Company's Hang On. Paradise Dance Hall was supported by a Dance Ireland studio residency.

MUIRNE BLOOMER & EMMA O'KANE

The Ballet Ruse

09 – 18 September @ 1pm (excl Wed)

Project Cube

www.fringefest.com

Once upon a time two budding ballerinas battled for perfection in the sugar-coated world of Ballet. Their hopes and dreams didn't survive ... but they did. This is their story. Choreographed and performed by Muirne Bloomer and Emma O'Kane, these seasoned performers will surprise and entertain as they struggle from barre to bar in their quest for peace and reconciliation. Set to a sumptuous ranging from Tchaikovsky to Lady Gaga, this is The Ballet Ruse - raw, honest, with frills attached. A lunchtime show without sandwiches.

The genesis of this piece was conceived during a Dance Ireland residency. A ten minute work-in-progress was very well received in Project Brand New as part of Dublin Theatre Festival. Bloomer and O'Kane are currently dancers-in-residence at CoisCéim Dance Theatre. The Ballet Ruse is funded by an Arts Council Dance Project Award and supported by CoisCéim.

MYRIAD DANCE COMPANY

Sonraigh Youth Dance Festival

Wexford Opera House

27 & 28 November

www.myriaddance.com

The Sonraigh Youth Dance Festival makes a welcome return on the youth dance landscape. Organised by Myriad Dance in association with Wexford County Council, Sonraigh Youth Dance Festival ('sonraigh' meaning to distinguish/perceive) is a series of events in dance taking place all over Wexford town. The main event will be a Gala evening of performances on Saturday 27 September at 7pm in the Wexford Opera House showcasing work from youth dance companies from all over the country. This Gala represents the best of talented young Irish dancers with outstanding and dynamic performances & choreographic work.

Performances by children's dance groups will be happening all over the town throughout the day in addition to the premiere of a Leargas-funded dance film by County Wexford Youth Dance Company with filmmaker Terence White.

Of special note this year Myriad is planning a Dance Development seminar on the afternoon of 27 November to tie in with the festival. It will be of interest to dance artists engaged in workshop & participation, arts officers and venues developing residencies & arts workers interested in promotion of dance as an art form. Further details will be available in the October issue of Dance Ireland News and on our website www.myriaddance.com.

Sonraigh & the Dance Development seminar is part of Making Dance Happen / Making Dance Matter at Myriad Dance. The Sonraigh Youth Dance Festival is supported by Wexford County Council, Dance Ireland, Wexford Opera House and the Arts Council.

Contact Improvisation is a dance form, originated by US choreographer Steve Paxton, based on the communication between two or more moving bodies that are in physical contact and their combined relationship to the physical laws that govern their motion – gravity, momentum, inertia.

Constant Composition, drawing from BodyMindCentering & the Alexander Technique, is dance improvisation that explores ones relationship to self, others & the space around you, combining somatic sensing, bodywork, partner work & group work to awaken your mind, body, & soul.

For further information on these masterclasses, Niamh Condrón and Rajendra Serber visit www.thisorsion.com.

Anybody waitin'? We are actually and we're very good at it. Waitin' for a text, waitin' for a sandwich, waitin' for the bus, waitin' for the right man, waitin' for any man (or woman). We're waitin' with style, vanity, lip gloss, eye liner and we're looking at you. The music whiles away the time and we're here to fill the space. Grab a half price leather sofa or stand and watch. Life's too short to let us pass you by, so wake up and smell the fake tan while four try-harders take on the town, the times and your attention span. ponydance – still good looking, still funny, still charming, still workin', still dancin', still eatin', still keepin' it country, listenin' to pop music and now posin' at a venue near YOU! Co-Produced and presented by ABSOLUT Fringe. An ABSOLUT Commission.

15 performances, 15 locations, 15 chances to see one of my favourite new Irish companies, for free. Guaranteed to put a smile on your face. Róise Goan, Director, ABSOLUT Fringe

YOU CAN CALL ME FRANCES

Greatest Hits

23 – 25 September @ 9.30pm

Project Arts Centre

www.fringefest.com

You Can Call me Frances, a band of four dancers: Justine Cooper, Jessica Kennedy, Emma Martin and Aine Stapleton. Greatest Hits is electric sound theatre played on everything from a kettle to a drum machine. You Can Call me Frances formed nine months ago and have been rehearsing in a living room, teaching themselves to play instruments and write songs. This is dark DIY sound played by four professional dancers, recently turned musicians. The band has played previously to packed out audiences in The Sugar Club and Project Arts Centre. You Can Call me Frances are grateful for the support of Dance Ireland through their residency programme in March and August of this year.

Youth Ballet West

YOUTH BALLET WEST

Auditions
03 September @ 6pm
The Corrib Dance
Academy Studios
www.youthballetwest.ie

Youth Ballet West (YBW) will hold auditions at 6pm on Friday 03 September at The Corrib Dance Academy Studios, Briarhill Business Park, Galway.

YBW have had a busy and exciting summer. The company performed 'Once Upon a Time', at Feile na Bealtaine in Dingle and at the Dublin Youth Dance Festival in Dun Laoghaire. They also starred in the Macnas Parade, one of the highlights of the Galway Arts Festival. In August YBW took to the streets for their annual company fundraiser, performing a mixed programme of ballet and modern dance, which was enormously successful. Three of the young dancers were selected by Cathy Sharp to apprentice with her company 'Cathy Sharp Dance Ensemble' in Basel, Switzerland in August.

Membership of Youth Ballet West is free of charge and provides wonderful performance experience and further training with highly skilled tutors. To register for audition, contact info@youthballetwest.ie Intermediate standard ballet is required.

Extract from Social Choreography: Steve Valk and the Situationists by Alan N. Shapiro

What the predominant "body movement paradigm" in our society relegates to the status of autistic or nonfunctional behavior attains a space of legitimacy on the stage in the incredible suppleness that [William] Forsythe's special inspirational remaking of the dancer's body allows her to express. But the ambition of social choreography is to extend this paradigm shift from the dancer's body to a new radical flexibility of the social body. [Steve] Valk and his associates brought together dancers, cultural theorists and new media artists to discuss and enact the potentialities of choreography as a socially active force.
